COMMISSION OF THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITIES

COM(82) 76 final

Brussels, 22 February 1982

RECOMMENDATION FOR A COUNCIL DECISION

concerning the conclusion of the Convention for the Conservation of Salmon in the North Atlantic Ocean

(submitted to the Council by the Commission)

COM(82) 76 final

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

1. By its decision of 21 April 1980 the Council authorised the Commission to negotiate on behalf of the Community for the establishment of an international convention for the conservation of salmon stocks in the North Atlantic Ocean.
2. After several rounds of preliminary negotiations, the Government of Iceland convened a Diplomatic Conference in Reykjavik from 18 - 22 January 1982 in order to negotiate and adopt such a Convention. The Diplomatic Conference reached a successful conclusion on 22nd January 1982 with the signature of a Final Act to which was annexed a Convention for the Conservation of Salmon in the North Atlantic Ocean. The Final Act was signed by representatives of the Community, Canada, Denmark in respect of the Faeroe Islands, Iceland and Norway and the United States of America.
3. The Convention lays down certain basic rules for the conservation of salmon and establishes an Organisation known as the North Atlantic Salmon Conservation Organisation, whose objective is to contribute through consultation and co-operation to the conservation, restoration, enhancement and rational management of salmon stocks subject to the Convention, taking into account the best scientific evidence available to it.
4. The Convention takes into account the provisions on anadromous stocks of fish in the Draft Convention of the third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea and establishes a balance between the interests of states in whose rivers salmon originate and other states in whose areas of fishery jurisdiction salmon are caught. This balance is, in the Commission's opinion, satisfactory.
5. In the course of the negotiations with the other Parties to the future Convention the arrangements outlined in the Council's negotiating directives underwent certain modifications. These modifications were the subject of close coordination between representatives of the Community's Member States during the negotiations and are in conformity with the major objectives laid down in the Council's negotiating directives.

6. The essential role played by the Community in the negotiations and in the work of the future Convention is symbolised by the Convention's designation of the Council of the European Communities as Depositary.

7. The Commission considers that it is in the interests of the Community to approve the Convention and therefore :

(i) recommends that the Council, at its next meeting, authorize its President to designate the persons authorized to sign this Convention,

(ii) proposes that the Council approve the outcome of the negotiations by taking the decision, a recommendation for which is annexed hereto, thereby approving the Convention.
